FOREWORD

The production of Teachers' Guides and Pupils' handbooks in respect of English and Mathematics for Junior Secondary Schools (JSSs) in Sierra Leone is an innovation. This would undoubtedly lead to improvement in the performance of pupils in the Basic Education Certificate Examination in these subjects. As Minister of Basic and Senior Secondary Education, I am pleased with this development in the educational sector.

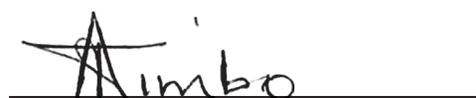

The Teachers' Guides give teachers the support they need to utilize appropriate pedagogical skills to teach; and the Pupils' Handbooks are designed to support self-study by the pupils, and to give them additional opportunities to learn independently.

These Teachers' Guides and Pupils' Handbooks had been written by experienced Sierra Leonean and international educators. They have been reviewed by officials of my Ministry to ensure that they meet specific needs of the Sierra Leonean population.

I call on the teachers and pupils across the country to make the best use of these educational resources.

This is just the start of educational transformation in Sierra Leone as pronounced by His Excellency, the President of the Republic of Sierra Leone, Brigadier Rtd. Julius Maada Bio. I am committed to continue to strive for the changes that will make our country stronger and better.

I do thank the Department for International Development (DFID) for their continued support. Finally, I also thank the teachers of our country - for their hard work in securing our future.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Timbo', is written above a horizontal line. The signature is stylized and includes a star-like symbol above the first letter.

Mr. Alpha Osman Timbo

Minister of Basic and Senior Secondary Education

Introduction

to the Pupils' Handbook

These practice activities are aligned to the lesson plans in the Teachers' Guide, and are based on the National Curriculum and the West Africa Examination Council syllabus guidelines. They meet the requirements established by the Ministry of Education, Science and Technology.

-  The practice activities will not take the whole term, so use any extra time to revise material or re-do activities where you made mistakes.
-  Use other textbooks or resources to help you learn better and practise what you have learned in the lessons.
-  Read the questions carefully before answering them. After completing the practice activities, check your answers using the answer key at the end of the book.
-  Make sure you understand the learning outcomes for the practice activities and check to see that you have achieved them. Each lesson plan shows these using the symbol to the right.
-  Organise yourself so that you have enough time to complete all of the practice activities. If there is time, quickly revise what you learned in the lesson before starting the practice activities. If it is taking you too long to complete the activities, you may need more practice on that particular topic.
-  Seek help from your teacher or your peers if you are having trouble completing the practice activities independently.
-  Make sure you write the answers in your exercise book in a clear and systematic way so that your teacher can check your work and you can refer back to it when you prepare for examinations.
-  Congratulate yourself when you get questions right! Do not worry if you do not get the right answer – ask for help and continue practising!

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Express yourself orally.
2. Introduce yourself.
3. Talk about and describe people and objects.

An introduction tells people about you. First, say your name. Then think of other information you can give about yourself. Use 'I' to talk about yourself. For example, 'I am from Lunsar'. Use 'he' or 'she' when you talk about others.

The outline below has some ideas of what to include when introducing yourself:

- Your name
- Your age

Lesson Title: The Four Language Arts	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-002	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcome

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to name and identify the four areas of study under the Language Arts.

Overview

Language arts is the study of listening and speaking, reading, writing and grammar. The study of Language Arts will help you improve your English.

The table below explains the four areas of study:

Language Arts
Listening and speaking	Listen and understand what you hear. Speak clearly so people can understand you.
Reading	Read and understand what is written.
Writing	Write clearly so people can understand you.
Grammar	Grammar is the structure of language. It is how we build sentences to make them clear and meaningful.

Practice

Activity 1

Look at the examples below. Identify which of the areas of language arts that apply to each example (listening and speaking, reading, writing or grammar).

Example: Phone call – listening and speaking

1. Text messages
2. Verbs
3. Job application
4. Watching a movie
5. Introducing yourself

Activity 2

Read the following paragraph. Answer the comprehension questions about it.

My mother has a small business selling fruit. I help her sometimes. She asks me to write the money she earns in a book. Sometimes she needs me to tell foreigners the price. When business is slow, I read to my mother from my book. I like helping her!

Comprehension questions:

1. What business does the mother have?
2. Which area of language arts is used when she writes the money she earns in a book?
3. Which area of language arts is used when she tells foreigners the price?
4. Which area of language arts is used when she reads to her mother.

Lesson Title: Fluent Reading Exercises	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-003	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcome

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to read fluently with appropriate voice modulation.

Overview

Reading aloud fluently is an important skill to learn. Reading fluency is the ability to read a text accurately, at an appropriate speed and with expression.

When someone has good oral reading fluency they:

- Do not read too quickly.
- Do not read too slowly.
- Read clearly and are easy to understand.
- Have good pronunciation.
- Stress or emphasise interesting words so that they stand out.

If you read too quickly, it can be hard for listeners to understand you. Remember, the punctuation in the text tells you when to pause. When you are reading aloud, always pause if there is a full stop or comma in the text.

Making your voice stand out while reading important words makes what you are reading more interesting. When listeners are interested in what you are saying, they will pay close attention.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the text below aloud. Practise pausing when you reach a full stop or comma. Make the words in bold stand out when you read them.

The Important Chief

Once upon a time there was a very important Chief. He was so frightening that everybody was afraid of him and nobody liked him. Often he got so angry that his face became very red. Everybody tried to stay away from him. Even in the Chief's compound, everybody was afraid of him. The only person who was not afraid was his wife.

Activity 2

1. What happened to the Chief's face when he got mad?
2. Did anybody like the Chief?
3. Name one word that should stand out from the first sentence when reading aloud.

5. Why is it important to make your voice stand out when reading important words aloud?

Activity 3

Read the following text aloud three times. Identify the words that should stand out when you read it.

The Important Chief Part 2

The Chief thought the people would only respect him if they were afraid. At home, he never got angry or yelled. That is why his wife was not afraid of him. His wife asked him to try to be nice instead. He was surprised that it worked! Everybody respected him more.

Overview

Voice modulation is the way you change your voice. We do this when speaking or reading aloud. For example, you can make your voice loud and harsh to show anger. Or you can speak softly to sound gentle. You can make your voice sound happy or sad. This is normal when we speak naturally. But when we are reading, it is more difficult. You will have to think about what the text is saying so you know how to change your voice.

When reading aloud it is important to use proper voice modulation. This makes what you are reading more interesting for the listener. It is part of being able to read fluently.

It is also important to break up the story by pausing at commas (,) and stopping at full stops (.). This is another part of fluent reading.

Reading comprehension skills include:

- Understanding factual questions: To understand factual questions you need to be able to identify facts in the text. For example, the names of characters or events in the story.
- Understanding inferential questions: Inferential questions require you to understand the story as a whole. For example, why a character behaved in a certain way.

Practice

Activity 1

- What is the problem between the characters?

Practice

Activity 1

Read the text aloud and practise correct voice modulation.

The Island of Dr Moreau

Part 1

That was not the end of his problems. The captain always drank too much and there were some wild animals on the ship. It took them to a deserted island. A mad scientist, Dr Moreau, lived there with his assistant. To escape the ship, the story-teller jumped off the ship and swam to shore.

Part 2

I waited under the mango tree with Dr Montgomery. A white-haired man was watching workmen unload the boat. At last he turned and walked towards us.

‘So, we have a guest. Where can he stay?’

‘I’ve been thinking,’ said Montgomery. ‘There is my room. It has two doors.’

‘That’s it.’ said the older man. All three of us walked towards the compound. The main entrance was a wooden gate. Next to it was a small door. The white-haired man produced a bundle of keys from the pocket of his jacket. He opened this door and we entered. I found myself in a small apartment. It was almost empty. A small window looked towards the sea. In the opposite wall a second door was open. Montgomery at once closed this door.

The white-haired man told me this was now my apartment. He would lock the door from the other side, ‘for fear of accidents’. I must not go out of this room.

They left the room by the main door. After a little while, I heard a key turn in the second door and the noise of dogs. I heard the dogs running, backwards and forwards, across the yard.

 Riding, riding
 A highwayman comes riding, up to the old inn-door.

 Learning Outcomes By the end of the lesson, you will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Explain what a paragraph is. 2. Compose paragraphs on different topics.

Overview

A paragraph is a group of sentences with a theme or topic. A paragraph usually has 3–5 sentences. The sentences all relate to one topic.

One way of organising a paragraph is to think of a topic and list all the 3-5 things you can think of that relate to it.

Example:

Topic:	Football team sport
Related ideas:	exercise play at school

Next, you write a paragraph of 3–5 sentences using your topic and related ideas. For example:
Football is my favourite thing to do. It is a team sport. I run a lot when I play football so it is good exercise. I play it at school with my friends.

Practice

Activity 1

Pick a topic and write down 3–4 related ideas. Follow the example from the overview above. Example topics include: the beach, a favourite game, a food you like, your favourite class in school.

Activity 2

Using your ideas from ‘Activity 1’, write a 3–5 sentence paragraph about your topic. Look at the example in the overview if you need help.

Lesson Title: Composition	Theme: Writing
Practice Activity: PHL-07-014	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Write a composition using the simple present tense.
2. Use descriptive words in writing.

Overview

A composition is a piece of writing. A short essay written for a school assignment is also known as a composition.

In a composition, each topic must have its own paragraph. Each paragraph must have ideas that relate to the topic.

Here are five more important things to remember when writing a composition:

- Every sentence must begin with an uppercase letter.
- Every sentence must end with punctuation (a full stop, exclamation mark or question mark).
- A good composition has both short and long sentences.
- Proper nouns must begin with an uppercase letter.
- Adjectives make our writing more interesting and descriptive.

Practice

Activity 1

Complete the following sentences to add more detail and make them longer.

Example: When I walk to school, I like to pass by my uncle's house for tea.

1. When I walk to school...
2. Before bed, I...
3. After school, I like to...
4. When my homework is done, I can...
5. The best thing about school is...

Activity 2

In class, you started a composition on the topic: How I spend my weekends. You chose two activities to write about, now choose a third topic. Write a 3–5 sentence paragraph about that topic.

Example activities: going to church or mosque, visiting friends, sleeping, studying, playing

Lesson Title: Nouns: Collective Nouns	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-015	Class: JSS 1

‘Collect’ means bringing together lots of the same types of things. Some people collect books. Some people collect music.

Collective nouns name a group of things or a group of people. Collective nouns are a single group with many members. Most collective nouns are singular. They do not end in ‘s’.

Lesson Title: Types of Prose	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-016	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcome

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to identify the various divisions of prose: narrative, descriptive and explanatory.

Overview

Prose is the ordinary form of writing. It has no meter, pattern or rhyme. It is any writing that is not poetry. But there are different types of prose. Below are some examples of different types of prose:

A narrative text is a story or a sequence of events. It is usually told in the simple past tense. The story can be either real or fiction (not real). It is usually told in a way that entertains the reader. An explanatory text gives information or tries to explain something. It tries to answer 'why' and 'how'. School textbooks and instruction manuals are an example.

A descriptive text uses interesting words to make a picture in the readers mind. It includes lots of descriptive words, like adjectives and figurative language. Sometimes a writer will use one image to actually mean something else. For example, clouds might be called 'cotton balls in the sky'. Or leaves might 'whisper' as they rub against each other. We know that leaves do not talk. The writer is trying to use an interesting way to say that the leaves are making a soft noise as they rub against each other.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following examples of prose aloud with correct voice modulation.

Narrative text:

Hara ran all the way to the market. Her grandmother was sitting beside a pile of tomatoes. Hara greeted her quietly. She wanted to tell her grandmother what she had seen, but she was afraid. What would her grandmother do if she knew what happened?

Explanatory text:

The planet Earth is like the human body. We become hot with fever when we are infected by a disease. Earth is also becoming hotter because heat is trapped inside the atmosphere by greenhouse gases.

Descriptive text:

The tops of the hills were hidden in the clouds, which covered them like thick blankets. The wind made the leaves of the mango tress chatter together and tossed the birds into the sky. The children in the village were running as if the wind was chasing them.

Activity 2

Answer the comprehension questions about the texts.

1. How is the descriptive text different from the narrative text?
2. What does the explanatory text give information about?
3. The descriptive text says, 'The tops of the hills were hidden in the clouds, which covered them like thick blankets'. Were there actually thick blankets covering the hills?
4. What tense is a narrative text usually told in?

Activity 3

Read the following sentences. Identify if they are examples of narrative, explanatory or descriptive texts.

1. In order to make ice cream you need the following ingredients: milk, sugar, cream and vanilla.
2. The car hummed like a swarm of bees as it drove down the highway.
3. Once upon a time there lived a little girl named Ada. She was a princess and lived in a big castle. Everyone thought she was very lucky. However, she was not happy at all. She was lonely and wanted a friend.

Lesson Title: Narrative Prose	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-017	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Define narrative prose.
2. Differentiate between fiction and non-fiction.
3. Give an example of narrative prose.

Overview

Narrative prose is the art or technique of telling a story. A narrative is a sequence of events usually told in the simple past tense.

There are two kinds of narrative prose. You can write from your imagination. These are stories that are not true. They are called fiction. The events and people in the stories are made up.

The following is an example of fiction:

The king of the rats was very big. He had long, yellow teeth and a red tongue. He said to the old woman, 'Give me some chicken stew, or I will eat you up.'

You can also write about things that have happened and are true.

These are called non-fiction. Newspapers, history books and school textbooks are examples of non-fiction. Sometimes it can be difficult to tell the difference between fiction and non-fiction. To find out if a narrative prose is fiction or non-fiction, look at what kind of book, magazine or newspaper it is in.

The following is an example of non-fiction:

The British tried to capture Bai Bureh. His warriors disguised themselves and hid in the bushes. They shouted at the British soldiers. The officer ordered the soldiers to fire.

Poetry is different from prose. Poems have lines, not sentences. A line in a poem may only have one or two words. Poems often do not follow the same rules of grammar and sentence construction as prose.

The following is an example of poetry:

The Highwayman by Alfred Noyes

When the road is a ribbon of moonlight over the purple moor,

A highwayman comes riding,

Riding, riding

A highwayman comes riding, up to the old inn-door.

Practice

Activity 1

Identify whether the following sentences are examples of fiction or non-fiction.

1. The beautiful green dragon opened its mouth wide. Fire and smoke came rushing out. It burned the house down!
2. Zainab ran home from school quickly. She could not shake the feeling that something was chasing her.
3. The Sun is a star found at the centre of the solar system. It is about 1,392,000 kilometres wide. The Sun's diameter is about 110 times wider than Earth's.
4. Bo Town is the third largest city in Sierra Leone. It is the largest city in the Southern Province.
5. The cat looked me in the eye and said, 'Give me food now!'

Activity 2

Write a non-fiction paragraph of three to five sentences on the topic 'What you did this morning before school'.

Example: This morning I got up at 6 am. I washed my face, brushed my teeth and put on my school uniform. Then I ate breakfast and drank tea. After washing my dishes, I took my bag and left for school.

Lesson Title: Singular and Plural Nouns	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-018	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Form plural nouns using 's' and 'es'.
2. Use 's' and 'es' plural nouns in sentences.

Overview

A noun is a word that tells us the names of a person, place, thing or idea. Nouns are either plural or singular. A singular noun is only one of something. A plural noun is more than one of something.

To form plural nouns:

- Most singular nouns become plural by adding an 's' to the end of the noun.
Examples: dog – dogs, book – books, girl – girls, pupil – pupils.
- To form the plural of a singular noun ending in an 's', 'x', 'ch', 'sh' or 'ss', you add 'es' to the end of the nouns.
Examples: fox – foxes, watch – watches class – classes, dish – dishes, bus – buses.
- To make nouns that end in a vowel and 'y' plural, just add 's'
Examples: boy – boys, toy – toys.

Singular nouns are one person, place, thing or idea. Plural nouns are more than one.

There are many types of irregular plural nouns. Some of these plural nouns have rules:

- If the noun ends in 'fe', you change 'fe' to 'ves' to form the plural.
Examples: knife – knives, wife – wives.
- If the noun ends in 'f', you change 'f' to 'ves' to form the plural.
Examples: leaf – leaves, loaf – loaves.
- If the noun ends in a consonant and 'y', we change 'y' to 'ies' to form the plural.

Asuma thought this was so embarrassing! They could not go looking as if they were twins. Ejatu agreed, but thought that Asuma should be the one to get new fabric. For two weeks, they did not talk to each other. Each of the friends complained to Fatu. Fatu, being the bride, had many other things to worry about. Their complaining was making her upset and giving her a headache. So one night she crept into their rooms while they were sleeping and stole the fabric from both of them. When Asuma and Ejatu discovered the fabric was gone the next day, they cried. They had no money for more fabric, and now they had no dresses to wear! Fatu let them suffer for a few days and then slipped back into their rooms and returned the fabric. Lesson Title: Creative Writing	Theme: Writing

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Write short poems.
2. Identify two figures of speech in the poem.

Overview

Poetry is different from prose. In prose, you want to make your ideas clear. In a poem, you want to create feelings and rhythm and use interesting language.

Poetry uses figures of speech. A figure of speech is an expression or phrase that has a meaning other than the literal meaning. Figures of speech help to make a poem interesting.

One figure of speech is a metaphor. A metaphor is used to describe something by comparing it to something else. Metaphors are not literally true but they inspire readers' imagination. Unlike similes, metaphors do not use 'like' or 'as' when comparing two things.

Example: Clouds might be described as sheep or cotton balls because they are fluffy, white and soft.

Personification: This is when we give human qualities or characteristics to things that are not human.

Example: 'That house looks lonely'. Lonely is a human quality. A house cannot be lonely. However, we understand that this means the house is empty and no one is around.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the poem. Identify all the examples of metaphors or personification in the poem.

Clouds by Cristina Rossetti

When the wind stops,

Where do you go?

The story is about a man who travels around the world. He visits many countries, mountains and oceans. There were no planes, cars or buses to travel in 150 years ago. There were no radios or telephones. Life looked very different from today.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following chapter aloud.

Around the World in 80 Days – Parts 1 and 2

Part One:

Mr Phileas Fogg lived in London. He was a member of the Reform Club and he was rich. But nobody knew how he made his money. He was not very generous. But he was not mean. He talked very little. This made him seem rather mysterious.

He did exactly the same thing every day. His only hobbies were reading the newspapers in the morning and playing cards after dinner. He was good at cards. But if he won any money he gave it away. He was not married. He had no children. He lived in a big house with one servant, James. He ate his breakfast and dinner at his club. He always ate at exactly the same time. He always ordered the best food and drink.

Part Two:

Mr Phileas Fogg thought everyone should be like him. On 2nd October 1873, his servant, James, lost his job. What did the poor man do? Phileas Fogg expected his water to be exactly 86.4 degrees hot. Later the same morning, Phileas Fogg was sitting in his armchair. He was watching the clock. The clock was a very complicated one. It indicated the hours, the minutes, the seconds, the day, the month and the year.

At 11.30 exactly, Phileas Fogg always left the house. But today at 11.20 there was a knock at the door. It was his new servant. The young man came in. He bowed.

'You are a Frenchman I believe. And your name is John,' said Mr Fogg.

'Jean Passepartout. It is a good name for me. It means "go everywhere". I know many trades. I've been a singer, a circus rider, a professor of gymnastics, a fireman. But now I have come to London. I want to be a servant. I am looking for a quiet life. I want to forget my name Passpartout.'

'The name Passepartout is fine. Now, what time is it?' said Mr Fogg.

His new servant pulled a very big silver watch from his pocket. '22 minutes after 11 o'clock.'

'You are too slow,' said Mr Fogg. 'You are four minutes too slow. Now, from this moment, 26 minutes after 11am, this Wednesday, October 2nd 1873, you work for me.'

Activity 2

Answer the following comprehension questions about the chapter in full sentences.

4. What was so complicated about Mr Fogg's clock?
5. Would you like to work for Mr Fogg?

Activity 3

Overview

Today you will continue reading Around the World in 80 Days.

The two characters in this story are:

- Mr Phileas Fogg, a rich man who likes to do the same thing every day and likes to be on time.
- Passepartout, Mr Fogg's new servant. He is French. He has done many different jobs. He seems to like Mr Fogg's order and timeliness.

When you are reading a text, it is important to ask yourself if you understand what you are reading. Some texts are harder to understand because they are old and the language is different than what we are used to reading. Before you start reading a text, think about what you have already read and what you already know. After you have read a text, summarise it in your own words.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following passage aloud.

Around the World in 80 Days – Part 3

Passepartout had a red face, blue eyes and a round body. He could not straighten his curly hair. He had already worked as a servant in ten houses in England. He looked carefully around the house. He went to his new bedroom. On the door, he found a list of his duties. He read it quickly. 8.23: Bring tea and toast. 9.37: Bring hot water. 9.40: Bring clean towels. The list continued until midnight. At 12.00 exactly, Mr Fogg went to bed.

He went into Mr Fogg's bedroom. There was a large wardrobe. He opened it. It was full. The clothes were in rows. Each pair of trousers, each shirt had a number. The number indicated the day, the month and the hour Mr Fogg would wear it. Passepartout looked everywhere.

Everything was neat and tidy. He rubbed his hands. "Good," he said joyfully. "This is just what I wanted. The man is just like a machine."

Mr Fogg, meanwhile, was walking to his club. He put his left foot forward 575 times. He put his right foot forward 576 times. He arrived at the front door of the Reform Club. He went at once to the Dining Room. He sat down at his usual table. His lunch consisted of fish and meat and pie and cheese. This was washed down with several cups of tea. He got up at 1.13pm. He went to the Reading Room. A servant handed him The Times. He read the newspaper until 3.45. Then he read the evening paper until it was time for dinner.

Activity 2

Answer the following comprehension questions in full sentences.

1. Was Passepartout's hair straight or curly?
2. How many houses had Passepartout worked at in London?
3. What did Mr Fogg's lunch consist of?
4. Why did each pair of trousers and shirt have a number?
5. Why do you think Passepartout compared Mr Fogg to a machine?

Activity 3

In your own words, summarise the passage you just read.

Lesson Title: Verbs	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-028	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Explain/define verbs.
2. Identify and use verbs in sentences.

Overview

Verbs are action words. They tell us what someone or something does. Verbs are important. Every sentence must have a verb. They can describe actions and states in the past, present or future.

There are hundreds of verbs in the English language. Examples of verbs include: go, stop, push, play, wash, walk, sit, run, sleep, tell, see, sell.

A sentence also needs a noun. Nouns tell us who did the action or where they did it.

Activity 1

Identify the verb(s) in the following sentences.

1. We rush home after school each day.
2. I did not want to wait any longer.
3. My brother washes the dishes every night.
4. The ball bounces across the field.
5. My mother told Ibrahim to go to the store at the weekend.

Lesson Title: Verb Tenses	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-029	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Identify the tenses of verbs.
2. Use different verb tenses in sentences.

Overview

Verbs change depending on whether you are talking about the past, present or future. Verb tenses can tell you when something happens. Verbs show the tense of when something happened (the past, present or future) by changing their form.

To talk about the past, we add 'ed' to regular verbs. This is called the simple past tense.

Verb	Simple past tense	Example sentences
Ask	Asked	I asked for some food.
Help	Helped	My mother helped me with homework.
Play	Played	He played in the house.

To talk about the future, we can add an 'auxiliary' (helping) verb in front of the main verb. This is called the simple future tense.

Auxiliary verb	Main verb	Example sentences
will	wear	I will wear my red shirt tomorrow.
going to	eat	I am going to eat a banana at break.

Practice

Activity 1

Identify whether the following sentences are in the past, present or future tense.

1. We needed to milk the cow.
2. She is going to give her a present.
3. My brother saved some food for me.
4. I want to play soccer.
5. My father will watch me play netball tomorrow.

Activity 2

Write the following verbs in a sentence in the simple past tense.

1. wash
2. open
3. follow
4. knock
5. help

Activity 3

Write the following verbs in a sentence in the simple future tense. Remember to use an auxiliary verb.

1. wash
2. open
3. follow
4. knock
5. help

Lesson Title: The Simple Present Tense	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-030	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Define the simple present tense.
2. Construct sentences in the simple present tense.

Overview

The simple present tense is used to discuss activities or events that happen regularly.

Examples:

- I brush my teeth in the morning.
- I do not wash my hair every day.

The simple present tense is also used to describe things that are always true and do not change.

Examples:

- Kenya is in East Africa.
- The sun rises in the East.

The verb tense usually stays the same when we use the simple present tense.

Examples: I sing. You sing. We sing. They sing.

If it is a negative sentence, use 'do not' before the verb.

Example: I do not sing.

Remember to add 's' to the verb when the verb refers to 'he' or 'she' or 'it'.

Examples: He sings. My mother sings. The bird sings.

If it is a negative sentence, use 'does not' before the verb.

Example: He does not sing. It doesn't sing.

Not all verbs are regular. Here are some rules for the simple present tense in the third person singular (he/she/it).

Verb	Example	Rule	He/She/It
Most verbs	make	add 's'	makes
Verbs ending in a vowel + 'y'	play	add 's'	plays
Verbs ending in consonant + 'y'	study	change 'y' to 'i' and add 'es'	studies
Verbs ending in 'ch', 'sh', 'ss', 'x'	watch/wash/pass/fix	add 'es'	watches/washes/passes/fixes
Verbs ending in 'o'	go	add 'es'	goes
Exceptions	have am/are		has is

Lesson Title: The Simple Past Tense	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-031	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Define the simple past tense.
2. Make sentences in the simple past tense.

Overview

The simple past tense is used to describe actions that were completed in the past. The simple past tense is formed by adding 'ed' to the verb. For example: walked, talked, played, watched, listened, cooked. Many common verbs are written differently in the simple past tense. You have to learn these verbs by memorising them. We call these verbs 'irregular verbs'. Here is a table of some common irregular verbs in the simple past tense:

Present tense verb	Simple past tense
Leave	left
Meet	met
Do	did
See	saw
Sit	sat
Run	ran
have/has	had
am/is	was
Are	were

Lesson Title: The Simple Past Tense (Continuation)	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-032	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Identify the simple past tense.
2. Identify key words used in the simple past tense.

Overview

The simple past tense is used to describe an event that was completed in the past. We use the simple past tense to tell stories about things that have happened.

Most simple past tense verbs end in 'ed'. However, some verbs are irregular. You must memorise the irregular verbs.

When we describe an event, we need to be accurate. We want our listeners and readers to know exactly what happened. We use words and phrases like 'yesterday', 'last year' and 'three months ago' to say when the event happened. They are called 'past time markers'. We often put these time markers at the beginning or end of a sentence.

Practice

Activity 1

Identify the simple past tense verb and the past time marker in each sentence.

1. Last Christmas my family and I went to the beach.
2. My team played in a competition three months ago.
3. My sister graduated five years ago.
4. Last week they saw a musician in concert.
5. I passed my English examination last term.

Activity 2

Add a past time marker to each sentence.

1. She went to visit her family in the north.
2. I completed all my chores.
3. I went to bed too late.
4. My brother had malaria.
5. We wore our best dresses to the party.

Activity 3

Write one sentence using each of the following prompts.

1. Something that happened last month.
2. Something that happened last year.
3. Something that happened before you were born.

Lesson Title: Pronunciation	Theme: Listening and Speaking
Practice Activity: PHL-07-033	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Identify and produce consonant sounds.
2. Differentiate between different consonant sounds.

Overview

Remember, there are two types of letters in the English alphabet: vowels and consonants. The English vowels are: a, e, i, o, u. There are 20 different vowel sounds in the English language.

Consonants are all the letters that are not vowels. There are 21 consonants in the alphabet.

Consonant sounds are the sounds that consonants make when we say them. We can make consonant sounds by stopping the air coming from our mouths in different ways. We use our lips and our tongues and teeth to do this.

Some English consonant sounds are shown by two letters. These two sounds blend together. An important one is the sound for 'th'. Sometimes the 'th' sound gets confused with the sounds for 'd' or 't'.

Example: wind, winter, weather

Practice

Activity 1

Practise saying the words in the table aloud three times. Notice the way your mouth feels and moves when you say each word. For example, when you say 'baby' you pull your lips together. When you say 'time' you feel your tongue on the back of your teeth.

B	baby	k	key	s	sun
C	car	l	love	t	time
D	day	m	man	v	village
F	fire	n	new	w	water
G	green	p	path	x	fix
H	hand	q	queen	y	yes
J	jeans	r	rain	z	zebra

Activity 2

Identify another example word for each of the letters in the table above. Remember that some letters like 'c' and 'k' make the same sound.

Lesson Title: Literary Terms	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-034	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Explain the meaning of literary terms.
2. Identify similes, metaphors and personification in sentences.

Overview

We use literary terms to discuss poetry, stories and other forms of literature. They are different techniques and devices that writers use to help create an image in the reader's mind. Similes, metaphors and personification are all examples of literary terms.

A simile makes a comparison by saying one thing is like another. You can usually identify a simile because it uses the word 'like' or 'as' to compare things.

Examples:

- The old man's hair is as white as snow.
- My love is like a red rose.

A metaphor also makes a comparison, but it does not use the word 'like' or 'as'. A metaphor says that one thing is the same as another. The reader needs to work out what the connection is between what is being compared.

Examples:

- Love is a garden.
- The classroom was a zoo.

Personification is a type of metaphor. It gives a human quality to something that is not human.

Examples:

- My love for you dances and sings.
- The hat sat angrily on his head.

Practice

Activity 1

Identify whether the following sentences are examples of similes, metaphors or personification.

1. Your smile is as bright as the sun.
2. Your smile is the sun on a grey day.
3. I think the sun is trying to kill me.

4. The bird sang happily on its branch.
5. The bird flew like the wind.
6. The feather was dancing on the wind.
7. Jonathan is a giant on the football pitch.

Activity 2

Complete the sentence with the ending that makes the most sense.

1. His eyes were as black as	a. lion
2. The leaves	b. angel
3. She was as proud as a	c. coal
4. Ezra is a loud	d. whispered in the wind
5. You are my guardian	e. firecracker

Lesson Title: Chapters 2 and 3 of Prose Text	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-035	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Identify new words.
2. Answer short questions from a passage.

Overview

Today you will continue reading the story, Around the World in 80 Days. This story was written by the French writer Jules Verne. It was published in 1873.

The story is about two main characters. Phileas Fogg is a rich British gentleman. He lives a very organised life. He makes a bet with other gentlemen at his club about whether it is possible to travel around the world in 80 days. On 2nd October 1872, Mr Fogg leaves London on a train with Passepartout, his valet. A valet is a male servant. They plan to travel around the world in 80 days to win the bet.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following passage.

Around the World in 80 Days – Part 3

Mr Fogg is at the club with his friends. They are talking about a bank robbery while they play cards.

Between rounds of cards, the conversation continued. They discussed where the thief might have gone. 'He could be anywhere in the world,' said one man. 'The world is big enough to hide him.'

'In the past, it was,' said Mr Fogg. The others agreed that the world had grown smaller. Now, with railways and steamships, you could go around the world in three months.

'In 80 days,' said Mr Fogg. They all looked at the timetable printed in his newspaper. The exact times were given. London to Suez: 7 days, Suez to Bombay: 13 days... Then to Hong Kong, to San Francisco, to New York and back to London. The whole journey would take exactly 80 days.

'I don't believe it,' said one of the players. 'Such a journey is not possible.'

'I will go around the world in 80 days,' said Mr Fogg. 'If I fail, I will give you all the money I have.'

'We accept,' said the other men. 'Good,' said Mr Fogg. 'The boat train leaves for Dover at 8.45. I will catch that.' 'This evening?' his friends asked, amazed. 'This very evening.' Mr Fogg took out his pocket diary. 'Today is Wednesday 2nd October. I shall be back in London, at the Reform Club, on Sunday 21st December at 8.45pm.'

Activity 2

Answer the following comprehension questions about the passage in full sentences.

1. What were Mr Fogg and his friends talking about while they played cards?
2. What do you think 'the world had grown smaller' means?
3. How long will the whole journey take?
4. What time is the boat train leaving for Dover?

Activity 3

Read the following definitions then use each word in a different sentence.

1. Robbery: the crime of taking money or other things of value that are not yours.
2. Thief: a person who takes money or other valuable things that are not his or hers.
3. Hide: to put something/someone in a place so that nobody can find it or to go somewhere where nobody can find you.
4. Timetable: a chart or list that gives information about when public transport (for example, a bus or train) leaves and arrives.
5. Agree: to have the same opinion.
6. Fail: the opposite of succeed. To do something that does not have the result you want.

Lesson Title: Punctuation Marks	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-036	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Explain what punctuation marks are.
2. Insert punctuation marks (such as full stops, commas and question marks) in unpunctuated sentences.

Overview

Punctuation marks are symbols like full stops, question marks and exclamation marks.

Sentences begin with uppercase letters. Sentences end with punctuation marks.

Full stops (.) go at the end of a sentence. They tell us that a sentence has finished.

- Example: I want to go to the movies.

Question marks (?) go at the end of a sentence that asks a question. Question sentences sometimes start with words like 'why', 'how', 'where', 'who' or 'what'.

Examples:

- Who was that girl?
- Are you going to the store?

A comma (,) is another type of punctuation. A comma never goes at the end of a sentence. It is used inside the sentence. It makes a short pause between two words. Remember, we do not need to put a comma before the word 'and'.

- Example: My favourite foods are banana, beans, bread and fufu.

Practice

Activity 1

Name the following punctuation marks and explain what each type of punctuation does in a sentence.

3. ,

Activity 2

Correct the following sentences by adding the missing punctuation. Change lower case letters to uppercase letters where needed.

1. i sent my aunt a letter at the post office
2. we need to leave in five minutes
3. what do you want to do with your old dress
4. how are you today
5. the mao river is the biggest river in sierra leone
- 6.

Activity 3

Add commas to correct the following sentences.

1. The sweetest fruits are bananas mangoes and papayas.
2. I packed my socks pants shirts and shoes in my luggage.
3. My aunt my sister and my mother all went to church.
4. Sarah stopped at the store to get a notebook some beans three oranges and a bottle of water.
5. My favourite classes in school are English Maths and Science.

Lesson Title: Punctuation Marks (Continuation)	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-037	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Tell what apostrophes, inverted commas and exclamation marks are.
2. Punctuate a passage using these marks.

Overview

Punctuation marks are symbols that are used in writing to help make writing clear and easy to understand. Without punctuation marks, it would be difficult to understand written English.

An apostrophe (') can show possession.

Example: The girl's football was flat.

The football belongs to the girl. So an apostrophe goes after 'girl' to show the possession. If the noun is plural and ends with an 's', we use the apostrophe after the 's'.

Example: The girls' football was flat.

- singular nouns use 's (the girl's football = one girl)
- plural nouns use s' (the girls' football = more than one girl)

An apostrophe can also be used to put two words together. We call these new words contractions. In contractions, the apostrophe replaces the vowel 'i' in 'is'.

Example: She is – She's

This is common when we use verbs like am, is, do, have, can, will.

Examples:

- he is = he's
- they are = they're
- have not = haven't
- do not = don't
- will not = won't

Inverted commas (' and ") are used to show that someone is speaking. They go around the words that someone says. We also call these quotation marks. Single quotation marks (') are used for direct speech, and double quotation marks (") are used to enclose quoted material within.

Examples:

- He said, 'I will help you clean tonight.'
- Aminata said, 'The teacher told me "tomorrow is fine" when I asked when I could turn in my homework.'

An exclamation mark (!) goes at the end of a sentence. It shows strong emotion, like excitement or surprise. We also use them if someone is shouting.

Example: Wow! I cannot believe she went all alone!

Practice

Activity 1

Identify the following punctuation marks. Explain their function in a sentence.

1. ‘ and “
3. !

Activity 2

Add the correct punctuation to the sentences.

1. Help shouted Mari
2. That is my brothers shirt
3. Shes coming to dinner with my father
4. Oh my exclaimed Hajah when her friend scared her
5. We wont be joining you tonight, my mother said sadly

Activity 3

Write 3–5 sentences about a conversation you had recently. Use inverted commas to show what was said.

Lesson Title: Narrative Prose (Continuation)	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-038	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Continue reading prose (Chapters 4 and 5 of Around the World in 80 Days).
2. Write short notes on the main facts in a passage.

Overview

Today you will continue to read about the adventures of Mr Fogg and Passepartout in Around the World in 80 Days.

Remember, Mr Fogg had told his friends, 'I shall be due back in London, at the Reform Club, on Sunday 21st December at 8.45pm.' This piece of information is important because if he makes it back by that date he will have travelled around the world in 80 days. If he fails, he will have to give all of his money to his friends.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following passage aloud. While reading, try to pay close attention to how Passepartout feels about the trip. Also, note what items they are taking on the trip.

Around the World in 80 Days – Part 4

At 7.25 Phileas Fogg left the Reform Club. Passepartout had studied his duties carefully and was very surprised to see him at this time. He did not come when Fogg called his name. Fogg called again. 'I called you twice,' he said, when Passepartout finally appeared.

'But it is not midnight,' said the servant, showing his watch.

'I know. I am not blaming you. But we start for Dover and for France in 30 minutes.'

A puzzled look spread over Passepartout's face. 'You are leaving home, Sir?'

'Yes, we are going round the world.'

Passepartout opened his eyes wide, raised his eyebrows and held up his hands. 'Round the world,' he murmured, horrified.

'In 80 days,' responded Mr Fogg. 'So we haven't a moment to lose. We'll take no trunks. Only a carpet bag with two shirts and three pairs of socks for me. And the same for you. We'll buy our clothes on the way. But bring some walking shoes. We may need them. Make haste!'

Passepartout tried to reply, but could not. He climbed to his room. He fell into a chair and muttered: 'And I just wanted to stay quiet.'

By 8 o'clock he had packed the two small bags. Mr Fogg was also ready. Under his arm he had a fat, red book full of timetables. They showed the arrival and departure times of railways and steam ships. He took a carpet bag and opened it. He slipped inside a thick roll of pound notes.

He handed the bag back to Passepartout. 'Take good care of it. There is 20,000 pounds inside.'
Passepartout nearly dropped the bag.

They took a cab and drove to the station. It was 8.20 when they arrived. Two first class tickets to Paris were quickly bought. At 8.40 they were sitting in the railway carriage. At 8.45 a whistle screamed. They were off.

Activity 2

Answer the following comprehension questions about the passage in full sentences.

1. At what time did Mr Fogg leave the Reform Club?
2. Where is the first place they are going to?
3. They did not pack much for the trip. Where will Mr Fogg and Passepartout get their clothes?
4. What time was it when they arrived at the station?
5. The author writes, 'a whistle screamed.' What literary device is this? What do you think the whistle sounds like?

Activity 3

In 3–5 sentences, write a summary of the passage.

Lesson Title: Poems	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-039	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Read the poem.
2. Answer questions on it.

Overview

You have read the first verse of the poem, The Highwayman. The poem is about a highwayman. A highwayman is a robber who rides on roads at night. He stops rich travellers and takes their money. This is the first verse of a long narrative poem. A narrative poem tells a story.

Remember, poems are written differently from prose. Words, language and structure are very creative in poems. For example, the author repeats the word 'riding' many times. This gives the poem rhythm and creates an image of the continuous action of riding the horse.

Rhyme is also common in poems. A rhyme is when two words sound similar. For example, 'moor' and 'door'. Sometimes words do not look similar when they are written, but sound similar when said aloud. For example, 'there' and 'hair'.

Alliteration is when sounds are repeated in poems. This usually happens at the beginning of words. For example, 'cobbles', 'clattered' and 'clashed'. These all start with a 'k' sound.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following poem aloud.

The Highwayman

by Alfred Noyes

The road was a ribbon of moonlight over the purple moor,
 And the highwayman came riding,
 Riding, riding,
 The highwayman came riding, up to the old inn-door.
 Over the cobbles he clattered and clashed in the dark inn-yard.
 He tapped with his whip on the shutters, but all was locked and barred.
 He whistled a tune to the window, and who should be waiting there
 But the landlord's black-eyed daughter,
 Bess, the landlord's daughter,
 Plaiting a dark red love-knot into her long black hair.

Activity 2

Match the following words with their definitions.

a. tap	1. an old word for a robber on a horse
b. cobble	2. owner of a pub, bar or guest house

g. bar	7. to divide your hair into three and tie together.
h. highwayman	8. a long leather strip used in horse-riding
i. clatter	9. similar to doors but to protect windows

stare	find	hard	clash
road	four	old	red

1. more
2. where
3. yard
4. load
5. unkind
6. flash
7. cold
8. bread

Lesson Title: Poems (Continuation)	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-040	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Revise literary terms – simile, metaphor and personification.
2. Give examples of each.

Overview

Poetry is a type of literary work where feeling and ideas are expressed with descriptive language. Poems have lines, not sentences. They can have lines of just one or two words. They can tell stories or they can describe something meaningful.

Descriptive language appeals to the reader’s five senses: taste, touch, sight, smell and hearing. Literary devices help the writer to create interesting descriptions:

- Similes use ‘like’ or ‘as’ to make a comparison.
 - Example: Its fur was as soft as silk.
- Metaphors also make a comparison, but they do not use ‘like’ or ‘as’.
 - Example: Its fur was silk in my hands.
- Personification gives human characteristics to something that is not human.
 - Example: The moon smiled at me.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following poems aloud. Look for examples of metaphors, similes and personification as you read.

I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud

by William Wordsworth

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o’er vales and hills
When all at once I saw a crowd
A host of golden daffodils
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Spreads its wings

Making a song

In stone that sings.

In the evening the city

Goes to bed

Hanging lights

Lesson Title: Countable and Uncountable Nouns	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-041	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Define countable and uncountable nouns.
2. Identify them in sentences.

Overview

Today you will learn about two different types of nouns. Nouns that you can count are called countable nouns. Nouns that you cannot count are called uncountable nouns.

Countable nouns have a singular and a plural form. You usually make nouns plural by adding a 's', 'es' or 'ies' at the end of the word.

Examples:

- a ball, four balls
- a chicken, three chickens
- one potato, five potatoes
- a party, two parties

Uncountable nouns cannot be made plural. You cannot count them with numbers. You must always use a singular verb with uncountable nouns. Abstract ideas like beauty and anger are uncountable. Objects that are very small or liquid are also uncountable.

Examples: air, water, tea.

Sometimes, we use 'some' with uncountable nouns.

Examples: some sugar, some water.

There are some nouns that can be countable and uncountable, depending on how they are used. Examples:

- Hair. Countable: There are two hairs in my soup. Uncountable: I don't have much hair on my head.
- Light. Countable: There are two lights in our room. Uncountable: There's too much light in here.

Countable nouns are nouns that we can count. They can be singular or plural. The following are words that we commonly use with countable nouns: 'a', 'an', 'some', 'any', 'many', 'a lot', 'few'.

Uncountable nouns cannot be counted. They must have a singular verb. Sometimes uncountable nouns can be used in the plural. It depends on the way in which the noun is used in a sentence. The following are words we commonly use with uncountable nouns: 'some', 'any', 'much', 'a lot', 'a little'.

Lesson Title: Prose	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-043	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Interpret the messages and morals of stories.
2. Read purposely and with understanding.

Overview

All over the world, people tell stories. Stories often have a message or a moral. A story's moral is the lesson that a story teaches you about good or bad behaviour. It may tell you the benefits of being good and honest, how to be brave, kind or clever or the problems that bad behaviour can cause.

Below is the story of the peacock. A peacock is a beautiful bird that cannot fly. This is a very old story from Ancient Greece. Long ago, before Christianity or Islam, people believed that gods and goddesses lived among them and could change their lives.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following story aloud.

How the Peacock Came to Be – Parts 1 and 2

Part One:

Long ago, a peacock was an ordinary bird with grey feathers. But the peacock was very proud. He thought he was better than the other birds. He deserved better, more beautiful feathers with brighter colours.

One day, he was by the lake looking at his face in the water. Suddenly, behind him he saw a beautiful woman. He knew it was the goddess Juno. This was his chance. She could make him beautiful. 'Oh Juno, lovely goddess, you are so beautiful. I want to be beautiful too. I want to be the most magnificent bird in the world. I want even the king to admire me. I pray, dear goddess, make me magnificent.' Juno looked at this very ordinary bird and thought, 'How proud and stupid he is! I will give him what he wants, but I will teach him a lesson.'

Part Two:

When the peacock looked in the water again, he was more beautiful than he could believe. His brilliant blue and green tail feathers shone in the sunlight. The black circles at their tips looked like a hundred eyes. The other, ordinary birds rushed to admire him. He walked up and down like a king, opening and closing his tail. But then the other birds stopped looking at him. They began staring up into the sky. He looked up too. He saw the powerful eagle high above. It spread its great wings wide and looked down on the whole world. The eagle was certainly a king of birds.

Immediately the peacock became jealous. 'I am more beautiful than the eagle. I will fly even higher. Everyone in the whole world will see my beauty. They will know I am the most beautiful bird in the world.' He lifted his wings and tried to fly. But his wings were so heavy. He could not leave the ground. The goddess made him pay for his beauty. Yes, he looked beautiful, but he could not fly.

Activity 2

Answer the following comprehension questions about the story in full sentences.

1. What colour feathers did the peacock have in the beginning?
2. What did the peacock think he deserved?
3. What was the name of the goddess?
4. What did Juno think of the peacock?
5. What did the black circles on the tips of the peacock's feathers look like?
6. Who was the peacock jealous of?
7. Why couldn't the peacock fly?

Activity 3

Write 3–5 sentences about the moral of the story.

Lesson Title: Creative Writing	Theme: Writing
Practice Activity: PHL-07-044	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Write a short story.
2. Use the simple past tense.

Overview

Creative writing is any type of writing that uses your imagination. When you write a piece of creative writing, you invent the characters and the story.

Remember, it is important to think about and plan a story before writing it. Here are five steps to follow when you are doing creative writing:

1. Describe the situation at the beginning.
2. Explain how or why a change came about.
3. Describe the new situation.
4. Explain what the character discovered.
5. Include the moral of the story.

When you write your short story, you should write one paragraph for each of the above steps. The simple past tense is used often in creative writing. You will use the simple past tense for your short story. Some examples of simple past verbs are:

- Verbs that end in 'ed'.

Examples: looked, lifted, tried, waited, helped

- Irregular verbs.

Examples: became, were, could, made, began, saw, knew, thought

Practice

Activity 1

Change the following verbs to the simple past tense.

1. want
2. go
3. like
4. fall
5. play
6. think
7. walk
8. move

Activity 2

Use the five steps from the overview to plan your story. Think about the story you are writing. What will happen? Create a few ideas for each step.

Lesson Title: Creative Writing (Continuation)	Theme: Writing
Practice Activity: PHL-07-045	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Write short stories.
2. Make use of the simple past tense.

Overview

Creative writing is writing that comes from the writer's imagination. It should be interesting and original. The following are five steps to help you plan and write a short story in the simple past tense:

1. Describe the situation at the beginning.
2. Explain how or why a change came about.
3. Describe the new situation.
4. Explain what the character discovered.
5. Include the moral of the story.

When you are planning steps one, two and three, it is important to think about something that happens to your character. This could be an event that makes things change. Example: In the beginning, the old man could not read because he did not go to school. Then a change happened. His granddaughter taught him how to read. The new situation is that she brought books home from school and they studied together.

In step four, explain what the character has discovered because of the change.

Example: The grandfather discovered that you should always try new things, no matter what your age.

In step five, include the moral of the story. Usually, the moral is very similar or related to what happened in step four.

Example: You are never too old to learn something new.

Practice

Have a friend or relative read your story. Ask for their feedback. Then revise your story based on this feedback, trying to make it even better.

Lesson Title: The Present Continuous Tense	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-046	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Define the present continuous tense.
2. Construct sentences in the present continuous tense.

Overview

The present continuous tense is used to talk about what is happening now. We use it to talk about actions that are in progress.

The first part of the present continuous tense is always the verb 'to be': I am, you are, he/she/it is, we are, they are. The second part is the main verb + 'ing'.

Examples:

- I am teaching the lesson.
- They are studying Maths.
- It is eating grass

For most verbs ending in 'e', we drop the 'e' and add 'ing'.

Examples:

- You are dancing to my favourite song.
- He is writing a letter.

For verbs ending in 'ie', we change 'ie' to 'y' and add 'ing'.

Examples:

- We are trying on blue shirts.
- She is tying a ribbon in my hair.

For verbs ending in consonant-vowel-consonant, we double the final consonant.

Examples:

- He is sitting on a chair.
- They are cutting flowers.

There are words and expressions that we use to help show that something is happening now. We call these time expressions. We often use the present continuous with the following time expressions: 'now', 'at the moment', 'in this lesson', 'this week', 'this year'.

Practice

Activity 1

Write the following verbs in the present continuous tense.

1. leave
2. smile
3. stay

1. I dream about the weekend.

5. We sell the tomatoes.
6. The bird hops away.

Activity 3

Use the following time expressions in a sentence with the present continuous tense.

1. now
2. at the moment
3. this year
4. currently

Lesson Title: The Present Continuous Tense (Continuation)	Theme: Grammar
Practice Activity: PHL-07-047	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Develop your knowledge of the present continuous tense.
2. Identify the present continuous tense in sentences.

Overview

Remember, the present continuous tense is used when talking about what is happening now. It is used to talk about actions that are in progress.

The first part of the present continuous is always the helping verb 'to be': I am, you are, he/she/it is, we are, they are. The second part is the main verb + 'ing'.

To make a sentence negative, we add 'not' between the helping verb 'to be' and the main verb. To make a question, we change the order of the verb 'to be' and the subject.

The table below gives examples of the different types of sentences in the present continuous tense.

Positive sentence	They are studying science now.	subject + verb 'be' + 'ing'
Negative sentence	They are not studying science now.	subject + verb 'be' + 'not' + 'ing'
Question	Are they studying science now?	verb 'be' + subject + 'ing'

Lesson Title: Informal Letters	Theme: Writing
Practice Activity: PHL-07-048	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Define informal letters.
2. Outline the features of informal letters.

Overview

An informal letter is a letter to a friend or family member or someone you know well. Informal letters are like talking to friends. Your friend cannot ask you questions. So, you have to give lots of information.

In the upper right-hand corner of the letter you write your address. Below the address, you write the date you are writing the letter. Write the date, the month with a capital letter and the year.

The salutation is a way of saying 'hello' to your friend. When we write a letter, we usually start with 'Dear' and the name of the person we are writing to.

The main part of a letter is the body of the letter. We begin the first sentence on the next line after the salutation. Try to organise the body into paragraphs. Start a new paragraph when you have a new idea or topic in your letter.

The closing is a way of saying 'goodbye' in your letter. You can use a variety of different closings. This goes above where you sign your name.

Look at the example outline below:

(Address)

(Date)

(salutation) Dear ____,

(Body)

- Ask about your friend (e.g. I hope you are well.)
- Say why you are writing (e.g. I haven't heard from you for a long time.)
- Tell your friend your news (this is usually the longest part of the letter)
- End the letter (e.g. I have to go and do my homework now. Take care. Write soon.)

(Closing) e.g. With best wishes,/ Regards,/ With love,
(Your name)

Dear,

I haven't heard from you in a while, so I decided to write. I have been well. I am enjoying my new baby sister. She is getting big so quickly. It is fun to watch her learn how to crawl.

I am finishing up JSS 7 and am excited to go to the next year. My favourite subjects are English and maths. My least favourite is history. I am still playing football every day after school. Are you still playing as well?

I have to go and help my mom with dinner now. I hope to hear from you soon!

Activity 2

Begin writing a letter to a friend. Start with the address, date and salutation. Ask about your friend and say why you are writing.

Lesson Title: Informal Letters (Continuation)	Theme: Writing
Practice Activity: PHL-07-049	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcome

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to develop an informal letter.

Overview

An informal letter is a letter to a friend, family member or someone you know well. Informal letters are like a conversation. You should give lots of information and ask the person you are writing to questions for them to answer.

An informal letter should include the following:

- address
- date
- salutation/greeting
- body – including introduction and conclusion
- closing
- name

The longest part of the letter is the body. This is where you share your news. You know who you are writing to. This helps you in two ways. First, it helps you choose what to write about. Think about the following: What will your friend want to know or be interested in? What do they already know about? What don't they know? What do you need to explain?

Secondly, it helps you to organise your ideas. What is the most important news you have? What does your friend need to know? What will your friend be most interested in?

When you end your letter, you end it in a similar way you would end a conversation with a friend.

Examples:

- I have to go now. It's time for dinner.
- I hope to see you soon.
- Say hello to (name).
- Take care.

Practice

Activity 1

Use the outline below to plan a letter to a friend or family member.

Take care. Write soon).
Closing (e.g. With best wishes, Regards, With love,)
Your name

Activity 2

Use the completed outline to help you write a letter to a friend or family member. When you have finished your letter, check it to make sure you have included all of the features of an informal letter. Also check your spelling and grammar for any mistakes you might have made.

Lesson Title: Descriptive Prose	Theme: Reading
Practice Activity: PHL-07-050	Class: JSS 1

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the lesson, you will be able to:

1. Read purposefully and with understanding.
2. Describe the character in the prose text.

Overview

Descriptive prose is writing that describes things very well. Descriptive prose can talk a lot about the setting or the characters. When you read descriptive prose, it should paint a picture in your mind so that you can imagine what is happening in the text.

A famous writer of descriptive prose is Mark Twain. He was an American writer who died in 1910. Two of his most famous characters were Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer. Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer were two young boys. They lived in a small town on the Mississippi River. The books are fiction. The two boys only existed in Mark Twain's imagination, but Mark Twain describes their lives so well that people think of them as real.

Practice

Activity 1

Read the following text aloud.

Huckleberry Finn

Huckleberry Finn was the son of the town drunk. Huckleberry was hated and feared by all the mothers of the town because he was lazy, disobedient and bad and because all their children admired him, wanted to play with him and wished they could live like he did. Tom Sawyer was like the rest of the boys. He wanted Huckleberry's freedom and was told not to play with him. So, he played with him every time he got a chance.

Huckleberry was always dressed in very old clothes. Huckleberry did what he wanted. He slept on doorsteps in good weather and in empty sheds when the weather was bad. He did not go to school or to church. He could go fishing or swimming when and where he chose and stay as long as he wanted. Nobody told him not to fight. He could stay up as late as he pleased. He went barefoot all summer. He never had to wash, nor put on clean clothes. He could do anything he wanted. And all the other boys were jealous.
